THE South-Carolina GAZETTE.

From TUESDAY May 7th, to TUESDAY May 14th, 1754.

To the PRINTER.

IN anſwer to the widow's letter,
Take this (friend Peter) 'ſtead of better.

Two widows liv'd within my ſphere,
Both young, but neither rich nor fair;
Each to their cronies would repeat
The bleſſings of the married ſtate.
Marriage! the greateſt bliſs below,
Which widows to their ſorrow know.
Tho' both affected to deny men,
Each paid her daily vows to Hymen;
His ſmiles with diligence purſued,
In which they plac'd the chiefeſt good:
To captivate, and fix the heart,
Both cou'd compleatly play their part;
But acted on a diff'rent ſcheme,
You'll find by th' ſequel of my theme.
So learn'd philoſophers (they ſay)
Sought happineſs a diff'rent way.

LASCIVIA ſtrives by artful wiles,
Unheeded glances, awkward ſmiles,
Unguarded ignorants to win:
(Her cobweb-ſchemes, alas! how thin!)
Hopes to give birth to unborn paſſion
By being faithful to the faſhion;
And takes a pleaſure, in expoſing
Fair nymphs whoſe charms may draw fine beauxs in:
When finely dreſs'd, her courſe ſhe ſteers
From houſe to houſe (as privateers
[illegible] main in queſt of prize)

As conſcious, ſhe has ſmall pretence
To lovers, were it not for pence:
If, thro' her forwardneſs, invited
To ball or cards, ſhe's quite delighted;
By talk ſhe makes each gueſt her pupil,
As if her buſineſs there was duple,
As if t'inſtruct the whole ſhe came
On purpoſe,—not to dance and game;
But ſhould ſome ſpark pay his devoirs,
How heavily run on the hours,
'Till the momentous deed's reveal'd;
A bliſs—too great to be conceal'd!
Which ſhe as prudently imparts,
By dropping of the knave of hearts:
If from the brain hard words are hammer'd,
With th' words and author ſhe's enamor'd;
Of learning thus to ſeem poſſeſt,
She makes herſelf a ſtanding jeſt;
For after all her various reading,
She knows nor manners, ſenſe or breeding:
If common fame gives her a lover,
She's pleas'd—but can't the ſneer diſcover;
Takes compliments, for demonſtrations
How much ſhe merits commendations:
Reſerv'd ſhe'd ſeem—but out 'till dark,
Seldom returns without a ſpark,
And goes abroad (as 'tis reported)
To be gallanted home and courted:
She's unreſerv'd—but yet a prude,
And free to change her widowhood.

PRUDENTIA's quite a diff'rent creature,
Does not invert nor torture nature,
Nor ever inward thoughts beguiles,
By wanton ogling, talk or ſmiles:
In dreſs, ſhe knows, that affectation
Creates contempt, not admiration;
She's always elegant and neat,
And juſtly may be term'd compleat;
No belle ſhe hates for being admired;
Nor yet in ſpleen from tea retired;
Her heart's benevolent and kind,
Not to her own concerns confin'd:
From place to place ſhe ne'er does roam,
But finds amuſement ſtill at home:
Sedate—and yet ſerenely bright;
Of ſimple manners—yet polite:
She ne'er affects the being witty,
Gay, ſenſible, genteel, or pretty,
But ſhews ſuch conduct, thro' her whole
Affairs, as captivates the ſoul:
Reſerv'd ſhe is—but yet no prude,
Can give repulſe without be'ng rude,
And merits, by a happy mean,
Our approbation, not diſdain;
Receives addreſſes from each lover,
So as new graces to diſcover;
Treats no man with contempt and ſcorn,
Becauſe ſhe can't their love return;
But, by her bluſhes, they diſcern,
That ſhe denies them with concern;
Which makes her by the world reſpected,
While poor Laſcivia lives neglected.

And now I think (my good friend Peter)
'Tis time to put an end to metre,
Leſt mine the painter's caſe may prove,
Who drew his girl—then fell in love.

How to make the beſt Ruſſia Pot-Aſhes; communicated by Sir Peter Warren.

THE beſt woods are oak, aſh, poplar, hic-

other, and then put up in brick troughs or wooden backs, covered with rain or river water, and muſt remain well marſhed and incorporated five months.

Brick furnaces, ſhaped like bakers ovens, muſt be heated with a ſtrong fire of oak or aſh, burning night and day; the prepared aſhes muſt be gradually thrown on the fire, when they will run into metal like lead; the fire muſt not go out 'till the furnace is nigh filled with pot-aſhes.

The aſhes muſt then be broken, to be taken out, the larger the pieces the better; they muſt be preſerved from the air in tight caſks, the large pieces by themſelves, and the duſt by itſelf.

ADVERTISEMENTS.

AS there is a Law for building a DRAW-BRIDGE over Aſhley-River, at or near the place commonly called Stony-Point, a little below the ferry; as alſo to make a Cauſey from the Bridge to the firm land on the weſt ſide of the ſaid river: Any perſon inclining to undertake the building of the ſaid Bridge, or making the Cauſey, may give in their propoſals to any one of the following gentlemen, who are appointed commiſſioners for the above purpoſe, viz. the hon. Wm. Bull, jun. Wm. Wragg, and James [illegible], Eſqrs. or John Drayton, John Miles, Thomas Smith, ſen. Benj. Smith, Wm. Branford, or Tho. Fuller, Eſqrs. The dimenſions of the Bridge, (which is intended to be built in a ſubſtantial manner with cypreſs), and of the Cauſey, may be learnt from Mr. Benj. Harvey, meſſenger of the houſe of aſſembly.

ON Tueſday the 4th of June next, will be ſold at publick vendue, at the uſual place in Charles-Town, for ready money, THREE HUNDRED acres of land, ſituate in the pariſh of Prince George in Craven county; late belonging to John Edwards deceaſed, and ſeized on execution, by Rawlins Lowndes, Provoſt-Marſhal.

TO BE SOLD intire or in parcels, the houſe and lands belonging to Meſſrs. Jermyn & Charles Wright, commonly called the point, ſituate in Anſonburgh, containing 17 acres within the brick wall. Alſo ſeveral lots without the wall, and the wharf and marſh. Whoever is inclinable to purchaſe the ſame or any part thereof, may treat with the ſubſcriber. The pleaſant ſituation and conveniencies attending the above lands, are too well known to require any illuſtration. JAMES WRIGHT.

JUST IMPORTED in the [illegible], Capt. Price, from Briſtol, white lead in oil, and other paints, linſeed oil, varniſh, Pruſſian blue, vermillion, gold leaf, Glouceſter cheeſe, bottled beer, white wine vinegar, quart and pint bottles, long and ſhort pipes, earthen ware aſſorted in hogſheads, yellow ware in crates, [illegible] all ſizes, [illegible] for [illegible] a ſmall [illegible] books, [illegible] DRUGS and MEDICINES of all kinds, [illegible] ſundry other articles, are to be ſold on the moſt reaſonable terms, by SAMUEL CARNE.

Naples, Jan. 1. Orders are iſſued for [illegible] ing ſix new [illegible] [illegible] our army [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] garriſon of which city will be kept as [illegible] [illegible] whenever occaſion ſhall require.

Naples, Jan. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] envoy extraordinary from his majeſty of Great-Britain, had a few days ago a private audience of our ſovereign, [illegible] [illegible] ſince which he has had a conference with the marquis [illegible], ſecretary of ſtate, to whom he declared, that his Britannick majeſty being extremely deſirous to cement the good underſtanding between him and the crown of the Two Sicilies, for the advantage of their reſpective ſubjects, has accepted the propoſal made by the prince de San Severino, the king's miniſter at London, for a treaty of commerce between the two crowns, and that he was charged with inſtructions relative to this point, as well as to the grand object of preſerving peace in Italy.

Paris, [illegible] According to private letters juſt received from Rouen, an affair extremely intereſting to the parliament of that city has lately happened; but of which 'tis not proper to ſpeak till we receive a Confirmation, with all the neceſſary Eclairciſſements.

London, Feb. 7. By private letters from Dunkirk of the 2nd ult. we are informed, that the accounts received there of a very formidable fleet being getting ready in England to ſail for the Eaſt-Indies, occaſioned great ſpeculations. The ſaid letters add, that two commiſſaries had been at that place to view the fortifications, but were returned home, and that the canal digging on the land ſide goes on with all poſſible diſpatch.

Our laſt letters from Turin, are more intelligible, but leſs ſatisfactory, than former ones.

London, Feb. 9. At Moſcow, count Woronzoff, the vice-chancellor, is coming into power and buſineſs; ſo that the foreign miniſters begin to ſtudy his diſpoſition, point of view, and particular connexions.

At Berlin, as uſual, buſineſs is hidden by diverſions.

London, Feb. 12. Shame is the proper puniſhment of corruption; and if, inſtead of ſtrict oaths, and high penalties, it was enacted, that the man who gave, and the perſon who received a bribe, ſhould ſuffer corporal puniſhment, and be diſabled from voting for the future [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] we might hope to ſee this reproach taken away in our own time.

We ſee, from every day's woful experience, how much we ſuffer as a people, from men's [illegible] in reſpect to principle, and the progreſs of irreligious notions; from whence that multiplication of perjuries, frauds, bankruptcies, and innumerable other evils that overwhelm us, clearly ſpring; and if we regard this alone, it will ſufficiently convince any unprejudiced mind, that revealed religion is both true and neceſſary; and that if we are incorrigible, even [illegible] experience, deſtruction muſt inevitably enſue.

We hear that there is likely to be a ſeparation between two young married perſons of quality, on account of the lady's keeping too irregular hours.

London, Feb. 14. It is ſaid that the land-forces intended for the Eaſt-Indies, will not ſail with the fleet, but follow them.

We hear that a ſhip that was mann'd with Engliſh ſailors, in order to enter into the king of [illegible] ſervice, to go to the Eaſt-Indies, has been ſtopt, the officers taken into cuſtody by one of his majeſty's meſſengers, and the ſailors [illegible].

London, Feb. 16. Some letters from Madrid adviſe, that the Spaniſh miniſtry, who become more and more ſenſible of the advantages of commerce, have reſolved to ſuppreſs the cuſtoms paid on merchandize; and, in order to ſupply the deficiency this will occaſion in the revenue, to eſtabliſh a ſort of capitation or poll-tax. With this view they have already begun to number the families, and enquire into their circumſtances, that they may be enabled to impoſe the tax more equally. But notwithſtanding all the efforts of the miniſtry to re-eſtabliſh the trade of the Kingdom, it ſeems ſtill to languiſh in America; for the laſt adviſes which have been received at Cadiz from Vera Cruz mention, that there was no demand there for European goods, and that the [illegible] are all ſold, without any near proſpect of their being [illegible].

The extraordinary affair which the laſt Dutch gazette [illegible] to have happened at Rouen, according to private advices from that city, was this: M. Fougeres, a creature of the chancellor, went [illegible] with a guard into the parliament-houſe of Normandy, while the parliament was ſitting, demanded in a cavalier manner their regiſters, and eraſed their laſt remonſtrance. This, if true, was a deſperate ſtep in the miniſtry, and what the haughty ſpirit of the Normans will ill brook.

We hear a perſon of diſtinction is going to enter into holy orders.
